Loan Kits

The Scottish Fisheries Museum has put together a series of Loan Kits relating to specific topics. The kits currently available are:

- Fishing Communities and the Second World War
- The Fisherman's Home
- Fisher Lassies

Each Kit contains objects from the museum's collections (both real and replica items), along with photographs and supporting information and activities, packaged together in a plastic crate.

The Kits can be used by schools, youth groups, day centres, reminiscence groups or other bodies to aid education or project work.

Kits can be borrowed for a week at a time (although this could be extended, depending on demand) and can be booked by contacting the Curator or filling in the attached form.

We also have a lending collection which comprises larger items relating to the fishing industry. These items can also be borrowed for handling, education, or for making classroom displays (please contact the Curator for a list).
